

Sirs,

The latest ploy by Sinclair Broadcast Group to interfere in the electoral process should be recognized by all fair minded members of the FCC for what it is. They claim to be presenting a news story, but the truth is obvious to anyone thinking person. This documentary is no more a news story than I am an elephant. Why must we Americans constantly avoid the truth in such matters? Irrespective of the very disconcerting fact that this is such an obvious attempt to influence the election, the partisan effort reveals precisely why the past deregulation and the ongoing efforts to further deregulate the industry are bad ideas for America. Now the partisan views of the owners are being forced onto the airwaves and presented as facts and actual news. This is beyond frightening, it is exactly how a country loses it's freedom. Please remember your committment to democracy and to the values of honesty and fairness when you consider how to deal with this issue. I admire the work and understand the importance of your contributions to this great country. Please stand up to this attempt to subvert our public airwaves and our democracy. Respectfully,
Dan Maes
